

andysturgeon
landscape and garden design

“Underlying all our work is the belief that gardens and landscapes improve not just the environment but the quality of life for all who experience them on whatever level.”

We are looking to fill a number of Graduate Landscape Architect roles to contribute to a range of exciting design-led projects in our central Brighton Studio.

Our practice works on a wide range of high profile public realm and commercial projects as well as high end private gardens and estates in the UK and overseas. We are known for our award winning modern designs which are often a fusion between traditional materials and contemporary styling. The studio is small enough to enjoy a close working relationship between the team whilst large enough to handle complex, longer term, high profile projects.

Successful applicants will work on a varied portfolio including major urban developments all the way through to bespoke private gardens and estates. Applicants will have excellent opportunities to progress within the company and would receive support to undertake the pathway to chartered status.

Applicants should have strong design skills and a passion for excellence, must hold a degree/diploma in Landscape Architecture or a similar discipline and be able to demonstrate strong software skills (CAD, sketch-up, creative suite) as well as strong graphic skills and excellent verbal and written communication skills. We welcome applications from ambitious individuals who are able to demonstrate aptitude and a willingness to learn.

Please send a CV and portfolio by email to careers@andysturgeon.com. Please note that applications without CVs will not be considered.

(We would also be interested to hear from year out students and interns)