

BALSTON AGIUS

Experienced Landscape Architect/Project Manager with 2-5 years' experience – based in Wiltshire

Established in 1983, Balston Agius is experienced in all fields of design and management. We are principally focused on a wide range of privately owned projects in the UK, working both as designers and project managers, either as leader or as part of a multi-disciplinary consortium. Our philosophy subscribes to flexibility and the use of concentrated expertise when required.

Our main office is in Wiltshire but part of the team is also located in London. As a small company, we guarantee a personal service, being selective in the projects we take on in order to ensure that each individual job continually receives the closest attention.

We are seeking a competent and experienced Landscape Architect, preferably with 2-5 years' experience (Part 3 LI minimum) to join our friendly team. The role will also involve a degree of project management, and initially will be office based. The successful candidate will:

- Be generally conversant in all stages of project development – from analysis through to design, to construction, implementation and management.
- Have a keen interest and knowledge of plants and planting.
- Be proficient in AutoCad, Sketch-up, Photoshop, InDesign and NBS, and be willing to learn new packages such as KeyScape.
- Be experienced in the preparation of illustrated plans and visualisations, working drawings and details.
- Be confident in liaising with other consultants and those working on site.
- Be experienced in the management of up to date drawing records and documents
- Have an organised and efficient approach to completing work within tight and often unpredictable deadlines, working additional hours if necessary.
- Be adaptable to working independently and under direction, whilst also working with other individuals within the team.
- Hold a clean driving licence.
